AND FEMINISM
INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE 2017

BREASTFEEDING AS SOCIAL JUSTICE

From Crucial Conversations to Inspired Action

March 22–24, 2017

Sheraton Chapel Hill

1 Europa Drive

Chapel Hill, North Carolina

This year's conference aims to position social justice as a central principle for developing a broad and sustained global movement to build breastfeeding friendly policies, institutions and communities. You are invited to join top researchers and on-the-ground practitioners in policy, programs, advocacy and communication to identify and respond to the social and economic inequities that affect infant feeding practices and experiences. Join us for these crucial conversations and be inspired to act!

Participants will develop strategies to address issues related to social justice and carry out an action plan that leads to breastfeeding equity across populations and communities.

Topics include Breastfeeding: Women's Rights; Health Equity; Protecting and Expanding Access to Human Milk; Expanding Reach and Outreach to all Caregivers; Inspiring Action: Community Engagement and Policy Advocacy; Gender Equity; Breastfeeding as Social Justice: Historical Trauma; Using CDC Breastfeeding Data to Support Equity in your Community and Inspiring Action: Communities at Work around the World.
